

It's Christmas!

Like Wizzard said before me, It's Christmas! This term has been full of Christmas joy as I have had the privilege of speaking at the school's carol service and doing Christmas assemblies for all the houses in the school. The Carol service was a fantastic event and is being attended by more people each year. In lieu of their not being a full-time clergy member at HT Nailsea I was asked to host the evening for the school which as well as give the message. It's a great opportunity to be able to talk about faith and the need for Jesus especially at Christmas, but also in an environment where I can be speak more than I have the ability to in School.

This nicely led into my week of doing the house assemblies where I showed a video by the evangelist Glen Scrivener whom discussed how people often view the role of Santa and God as being very similar. That the relationship is based on getting things by being good, rather than receiving Christ because of grace more than anything we can do. I had very positive feedback from both staff and students, but hope and pray that it was heard rather than just listened too. It was great way to (almost) finish off what has been a very busy term
